What Makes Us Different?

We are "Damn Fine Feeds"

At Circle 5 Feeds, we believe in the natural wisdom of the land. We are forage-based because we trust that the Lord has provided horses with everything they need right out there in the pastures. For centuries, horses have thrived on a diet rich in natural grasses and plants, which is why we focus on forage as the foundation of our nutrition solutions. Forage is the best for horses, promoting optimal health, digestion, and well-being. By honoring this divine provision, we ensure that our horses receive the most natural and beneficial nutrition possible, just as nature intended.

At Circle 5 Feeds, we believe that simple is better. Horses have thrived for centuries on a natural diet, so we keep our feed uncomplicated with fewer, high-quality ingredients. We procure our forage from Eastern Idaho, where the ground is rich in essential vitamins and minerals like Selenium. To enhance nutrition, we add flaxseed oil, extra extra virgin oil, coconut oil, and prebiotics, ensuring our feed provides all the essential nutrients horses need for optimal health. Simple, natural nutrition is the best way to support your horse's well-being.

At Circle 5 Feeds, we are dedicated to ensuring the highest quality and nutritional integrity in every batch of feed we produce. Our meticulous three-step processing method is designed to preserve the rich benefits of essential minerals, prebiotic enzymes, and omega fatty acids.

We start by sourcing nutrient-rich forage from Eastern Idaho, known for its abundant vitamins and minerals, including Selenium. To maintain these vital nutrients, we use a low-heat "cold" manufacturing process. This careful control of temperature prevents the loss of beneficial properties, ensuring that the essential nutrients remain intact.

In the next steps, we enhance our feed by applying flaxseed oil, extra extra virgin olive oil, organic coconut oil, and prebiotics after initial process. By adding these oils and prebiotics post-processing, we ensure they do not undergo heat exposure, preserving their efficacy and nutritional impact.

This thorough approach guarantees that our feed supports the well-being and performance of your horses, delivering all the essential nutrients they need to thrive. At Circle 5 Feeds, we believe that preserving the natural goodness of our ingredients through careful processing is the key to superior horse nutrition.
